Richmond Court.

Yesterday was the biggest court day Richmond has seen for many a day—free turnpikes and the return of prosperity uniting in bringing a tremendous crowd to town. There was a good feeling among all classes, merchants, farmers and traders seeming to sniff the return of good times in the very air. At Norris Bros.' stock yards there were between 2,500 and 3,000 cattle, and buyers from a half dozen counties. Prices were stiff, ranging from 2 to 4½ cents, with a steady demand, the bulk going at 3 to 4 cts. A big lot of mules were offered, but few sold, owing to the fact that farmers expected boom prices, while traders were cautious. Jewell & Patterson and Carithers & Beard bought a number at $40 to $100. There was a number of horse sales at $25 to $40, a few good ones bringing a better figure. The merchants had a big trade, and the banks were kept busy handling cash and checks.—Register.

Raised A Crop of Coffee.

Mr. J. C. Hoffman, one of Barren county's enterprising farmers, has just harvested and roasted his present year's crop of coffee, which was grown on his farm. He secured the seed from a farmer in Garrard county and he told the Glasgow News that he could raise it as easily as anything else that grows on his farm, and that the cost of production does not exceed two cents a pound. He will put in a large crop next year, and have coffee on the market.—Hodgenville Herald.

Daniel Boone's Kettle.

A special from Bristol Tenn. says: A farmer brought to Bristol Friday an old battered brass kettle, which was dug up on a farm near Bluff City, Tenn. On the side of the kettle, near the rim, appeared these letters: "D. Boone, 1760." The kettle is supposed to have been used by Daniel Boone, the noted pioneer-hunter, whose name is carved on a historic beech in this section.

How to Improve Your town.

Talk about it.

Write about it.

Buy your goods only from the local merchants.

Beautify the streets as well as your own premises.

Patronize the business of your town at all times.

Speak well of its public spirited, enterprising citizens.

If you can't think of any good word, don't say anything bad about it.

Be courteous to strangers, so that when they go away they will be favorably impressed.

Don't advertise to help the printer, but to help your own interest and the interest of your town.

Don't let politics get mixed up with your business, if you are a business man, stick to your vocation. There will be plenty of men to run the political machine.

Always cheer on the men who go in for improvement. Don't kick at any good improvement because it is not at your own door for fear of your taxes being raised fifty cents.

The Madison county bridegroom who was married last week at Richmond in his shirt sleeves, had a parallel over in Indiana last Friday. Alice Litchen was doing a big family washing when her lover, Frank Holmes, came in from New Albany and found her at work. Without any preliminary remarks he asked her to marry him. She drew her hands out of the suds dried them and got into his buggy without further preparations. They went to the nearest squire's, where the knot was tied, and she then returned and completed her washing.—Winchester Democrat.

What Congress Does.

The best definition of congress that has yet been given is found in the printed testimony in the Jones-Catchings contest for a seat in the present house of representatives. Alex Gates, a colored witness for the contestant, was asked:

"What is congress?"

Answer—Congress is congress.

Q—What are the duties of congress?

A—Well, they make speeches and pow-wows, and play cards, and gets drunk, and rides on the trains, and draws salaries. That's all I see in the papers.
